PURPOSE
To provide a unique and meaningful team-building experience while raising critical operating funds for the Chattahoochee Nature Center (CNC).

DESCRIPTION
The Corporate Eco Challenge is a scavenger/Amazing Race type of event designed to provide Atlanta-area corporations with a team-building opportunity that not only creates a fun atmosphere for strengthening teams but also provides an environmental learning opportunity about one of Atlanta’s most precious resources, the Chattahoochee River and watershed.

All activities take place on the grounds of CNC including along the Chattahoochee River with a post-race party at CNC’s Ben Brady Lakeside Pavilion. Led by a professional team-building company, the event will include concepts that promote building connections, problem-solving, leadership, creating brand loyalty and excitement through engaging moments, time and resource management, better communication skills, plus more - not to mention a lot of entertainment and fun!

This mixed-element scavenger hunt challenges team members to use their planning abilities and wherewithal to complete a series of tasks. Provided with a predetermined set of available resources, teams must locate landmarks, answer questions, and accomplish specific activities within the given timeline. Starting with a series of clues, teams must score as many points as possible and return to the designated base camp. The team that visits the most destinations, completes activities the fastest, and provides creative solutions to the clues within the given time will be the winner. Several of the destinations will be facilitated challenge stations which require team members to work together before moving forward in the hunt. Team members must strategize and decide how to conquer the tasks before them.
